

SPUNKI Reflection and/or Discussion

This is a good way to do an informal assessment, spark a discussion, or prompt a written reflection.

During our live session, please jot down something for each category, then, please post your thoughts in this discussion.

You are welcome to comment on your colleagues' threads, but it is not required. I often like to have reflections posted in discussion forums for all to see because there is much to learn from each other.

For you, what is something you found...
